

FAVORS CONSOLIDATION

N. C. BURCH OF TROPICO TELLS ADVANTAGES OF TWO CITIES UNITING

The purpose of the law providing for the consolidation of contiguous cities, situated with respect to each other as are Glendale and Tropic, is to enable their respective communities to work together—co-operate for the common good with more economy and greater efficiency than is possible to attain with divided capital and duplicated operating expenses.

It is not the fault but the misfortune of the City of Tropic that its territorial area is limited to three-eighths of a square mile, to a population of 2700, and a taxable wealth of $1,000,000, while Glendale is three or four times greater.

The trouble with Tropic as a city is like that of any other business concern which sets out in a costly enterprise on a small capital and limited resources. Hemmed in on all sides by other cities it has no room in which to expand. Confined within its narrow limits, physically and financially, it is shut out from participation in worth while civic enterprises. Many, if not a majority, of our citizens, have recognized this fact from the beginning of our corporate existence, and have felt that, rather than remain an insignificant dot on the map and continue to scrimp along on the "ragged edge" of the pigmy genteel it would be better to unite our destinies with either Los Angeles or Glendale, and prosperous respectability.

Objection to consolidation with either of these cities is urged. Of the several grounds advanced the particular one that is oftenest repeated is that our amazing taxable wealth is wanted by the greedy urbanites of these greater cities for relief from grievous financial straits.

To those of us who feel that consolidation will be of greater advantage and benefit to Tropic than to Glendale all this sounds absurd. There is one objection to consolidation with Glendale raised that is liable to cut both ways. That Glendale's Puritanism will not tolerate the continuance of a Tropic billiard hall and a city hall card room should the proposition carry. There is mischief in the agitation of this objection. It is liable to arouse the "Puritanism" of both cities. Neither "pool playing" nor "card playing" should be made an issue for or against consolidation. Personal interests as well as individual tastes should give way to the weightier matters involved in the single question with us: "Will consolidation be for the common good or advantage of Tropic and Glendale? And, with you of Glendale, when it comes your turn to vote: Will it be to the advantage of both cities and the good of the general public in this part of this magnificent valley to accept Tropic's consolidation proposal?"

Tropic has found itself in an embarrassing and humiliating situation in several instances. Notably in its violated promise to pay for the removal of the tower on the Pacific Electric right of way across the S. P. railway; for opening and extending Brand boulevard. Also in its violated promise to pay for lighting 32 ornamental lighting posts on San Fernando boulevard with electricity if frontage owners installed the posts, which they have done. Also in its violation of the underlying principle of constitutional law that the exaction from the owners of private property of the cost of public improvements in substantial excess of special benefits accruing to him is, to the extent of such excess, a taking, under the guise of taxation, of private property for public use without compensation, as in the case of the opening and extending of Acacia avenue it was so done. And all because of the city's treasury shortage and its dismal strain to do things without the money to do them with.

Consolidation with Glendale will lift the people of Tropic to a plane of prosperity on a level with that of Glendale and elevate both communities to higher standard of municipal classification and distinction on the map of Imperial California.

The Prohibition National convention will be held at St. Paul, Minn., July 19 to 21.

P-T. A. ANNUAL PICNIC

LARGE GATHERING ENJOYS A PLEASANT DAY AT C. H. TOLL RESIDENCE

Nature was in her most serene and tender mood yesterday, when the annual picnic and installation of officers for the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations was held at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Toll at 1635 Kenneth road. A typical Southern California June day, sunshiny and warm, with a breeze just cool enough to temper the ardor of the sun, made the al fresco affair very delightful.

As early as ten o'clock, machines began to arrive with numbers of picnickers. A very large round table, long tables, and many smaller ones were arranged under the grove of pepper trees. These tables were gay with gorgeous bouquets of yellow and white flowers (the Congress of Mothers colors), matilija poppies, Shasta daisies, coreopsis, rudbeckias and yellow lilies being very effectively arranged in brass bowls and Indian baskets, and adorning each table.

Before luncheon a short meeting of the executive board was held indoors, some important matters of business being disposed of. One important item was the decision of the board to secure Prof. Jerome Hall Raymond, a University Extension Course lecturer from the Berkeley college, who will be remembered from his fine course given here last fall under the auspices of the Federation, to give a similar course here this coming fall. Another important item, especially to the young who will be at home this summer, was the donation, by the Federation, of a sufficient sum of money to enable the Federation, with what the board of city trustees and the board of grammar school trustees have promised, to carry on the supervised playground work during two months of the summer, July and August. There is no question in the minds of most people as to the great utility of these supervised playgrounds; and the Federation members feel very happy to do this work which they consider to be of very great advantage for a large number of Glendale children.

At 12:30, luncheon was served, after Dr. E. H. Willisford had invoked the divine blessing. Everyone had brought an ample amount for two. Coffee was served by the Federation to all, and ice cream and confections were supplied to all who desired them. After luncheon, and while all were still seated, the Federation president, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, in a few happy words, introduced to all the president of the Fifth District, California Congress of Mothers, Mrs. C. H. Ritchie of Burbank. Mrs. Ritchie spoke enthusiastically of the work that Glendale has done and is still doing. She said that, everywhere she had been during her term of office, she had told them that her slogan had been "Keeping up with Glendale." She commended the Domestic Science Lecture Course for mothers, and the Reading Circle work as something that no other Federation in the District has taken up, and something of great value to all interested in increasing their efficiency as mothers and homekeepers. She also told her hearers that the First District alone (comprising Los Angeles County) has more P-T. A. members than any state in the Union outside of California. There are nearly 12,000 members in Los Angeles County alone—a strong power for good.

Mrs. Hutchinson then called upon Mrs. J. H. Seaman of Tropic, president of the Cerritos P-T. A., who spoke of some of the features of their work in Tropic, and of the probability of the union of that locality with Glendale. Mrs. J. H. Wattles, also of Tropic, president of the Acacia Street school Mothers' club, was next introduced and spoke of the numerous benefits which their school had received through the activity of their organization, a piano and a Victrola having been provided for the school during the past year.

After luncheon, chairs were moved to a shaded part of the lawn, and the program followed. Mrs. Greely Kolts, whose delightfully clear, true voice has so often charmed Glendale music-lovers, sang with artistic interpretation, "Where My Caravan Has Rested." Mrs. Kolts was very effectively accompanied on the piano by Mrs. O. L. Cowen. Two young girls, Mary Young and Katherine Berry, gave an amusing character sketch, "Aunt Sylvia's First Geography Lesson," very cleverly. These girls had been trained by Mrs. U. F. Newlin, whose work with children is well known.

Mrs. Hutchinson introduced as the afternoon speaker, Mrs. Myron Hunt

The board of trustees of the City of Glendale met in the city hall, Monday evening, June 19, 1916. Present, J. S. Thompson, president of the board, and trustees Chas. Grist, R. M. Jackson, F. L. Muhleman, G. B. Woodberry. Also present T. W. Watson, city manager; W. E. Evans, city attorney; J. C. Sherer, city clerk; H. B. Lynch, manager public service department; Edw. M. Lynch, city engineer; J. M. Banker, building inspector; G. H. Herald, city marshal; A. H. Lankford, fire marshal.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

A communication was read from Mr. H. C. Nutt, general manager of the S. P. L. A. & S. L. R. company in regard to the improvement of Glendale avenue, stating that the company will be very glad to accede to the request of the city that its track be shifted on Glendale avenue between First and Oakwood avenue, upon condition that the Glendale & Montrose Railroad company will do likewise. The city manager made a report in connection with the communication, and on motion of Trustee Woodberry, the same was ordered to be filed.

A communication was read from Mr. J. M. Banker, plumbing inspector, asking the board to pass upon the application of W. M. Platt, for permit to install a gasoline tank and pump at 427 S. Brand boulevard. On motion of Trustee Grist, the communication was referred to the city manager with instructions to investigate and report.

An application from Mrs. A. L. Maddy for permission to conduct a dairy at 210 Belmont street, being endorsed with the approval of the milk inspector, was upon motion of Trustee Woodberry granted.

An application was read from A. P. Offut for permit to operate a motor bus, which having the approval of the city manager, was on motion of Trustee Jackson ordered to be granted.

A communication was presented and read from F. W. Pigg and thirteen other property owners on Brand boulevard, in which they expressed their willingness to accept the proposition of the Pacific Electric Railway company in regard to the improvement of the railroad crossings at the intersections of Brand boulevard and First street and Brand boulevard and Doran street, as set forth in the letter of Mr. Paul Shoup under date of June 10, 1915. On motion of Trustee Muhleman, the city manager was directed to send a copy of this communication to Mr. Shoup and to inform him that upon the actual beginning of the work by the company on this improvement, bids formerly received from private contractors will be rejected.

A communication was read from the building inspector calling attention to the fact that the City of Los Angeles has recently passed an amendment to its building ordinance permitting six-inch hollow tile exterior walls on one-story dwellings and four-inch hollow tile on interior partitions. The communication stated that the Glendale ordinance permits nothing less than eight-inch hollow tile walls in one story dwellings and in two story dwellings ten inch exterior walls on first floor and six inch on second floor. The communication further stated that a permit had been allowed a one story dwelling to be constructed of six inch hollow tile, and requesting the board to pass upon the same. Upon motion of Trustee Grist, the communication was referred to the city manager to investigate in conjunction with the building inspector, with the view of amending the building ordinance.

Upon motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that bids now be opened for the improvement of Pacific avenue. There was only one bid on file, being that of E. Schelling, which was opened, read and publicly declared. Upon motion of Trustee Grist, the bid was referred to the city engineer to check up and report.

The city manager reported that it is impracticable to clear off weeds from city lots in the recently annexed Remington Street district under the provisions of the ordinance which covers the rest of the city, and recommended that lots in that section be cleaned in accordance with the provisions of Ordinance number 244. Upon motion of Trustee Muhleman, the work was ordered to be done in accordance with the recommendation.

The city manager reported that H. B. Hood had operated an auto bus for a short time only and recommended that the sum of $5.00 be re-

BIRD AND FLOWER CLUB

FIRST MEETING OF NEW ASSOCIATION WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Never were happier people than those who were present yesterday afternoon at the first meeting of the Bird and Flower Club. At 2:30 the Garden society headquarters fairly buzzed with activity. First of all, each young person told what was his or her interest in birds and flowers, and made suggestions as to the kind of club they would like to have.

It was agreed that a prize would be given for attendance, the counting to begin next Monday. It was also arranged that at every meeting some competition would be held, for which the winner would be awarded a handsome badge button; the winner of the greatest number of buttons to receive a prize. Meetings will be held every Monday afternoon during the school vacation. Little trips and excursions will be made to various places of interest, and birds and flowers studied.

Members received membership buttons and membership cards; and next Monday's trip was arranged. Business being concluded, the Bird and Flower club took their first trip, a short one, on foot, to the pretty garden of Mrs. Nanno Woods, 1222 Milford street. Here everyone went round with pencil and paper, making a list of the names of all the flowers they knew growing in the garden, the grown-ups just as interested as the children. Some of the children had to be helped in the spelling of the names, for really long words such as geranium, hydrangea, nasturtium, are quite difficult to spell.

Lucille Nelson won, with 27 names, and was awarded the button, which she proudly pinned on her dress beside her membership button. Of course the grown-ups had longer lists, forty and fifty names, but they are not allowed to win prizes.

After this the members in a large group visited each flower bed, pointed out individually the flowers they did not know, and were told the names, which they added to their lists. Then some half-dozen bird-houses, made by Mr. Woods, were inspected, the boys being specially interested. Thus ended the first meeting of the Bird and Flower club.

The following became members: Edmund Parker, aged 14; Kathleen Wood, aged 11; Lucille Nelson, aged 12; Robert Tower, aged 14; Grace Tower, aged 16; Frederick Hendricks, aged 10; Boone Hendricks, aged 8. Several children who intend to join had to be absent yesterday, but will be at the next meeting. Grown-ups who joined were, Miss G. Forrest, Mrs. H. C. Ackley and Mr. Morris Caruthers.

Next Monday those who have already joined, and those who wish to join, will meet at Headquarters, 1111 W. Broadway, at 2 p. m. sharp. New members should come even earlier, in order to receive their membership cards and badges. There are no dues, no fees; but each must have sufficient money for carfare. The trip on next Monday will be to Verdugo Park, leaving headquarters on the 2:15 car. The children have agreed among themselves that each should bring a small notebook and pencil, to assist them in learning about the birds and flowers.

KENSINGTON CLUB TO MEET

The Kensington club, which is an auxiliary of the Woman's Relief corps, will meet Wednesday afternoon, in the G. A. R. hall, Glendale avenue, Tropic, at 2 p. m. This is the first meeting of the club since April. The object of the club is to assist the Relief Corps. At their meetings the ladies do a great deal of fancy work. The hostess on the present occasion will be Mrs. R. L. Milligan. She will be assisted by Mrs. William La Fontaine, Mrs. E. Ripley and Mrs. Jack Hammond. Ladies of the Relief corps are urged to attend. There is always a good time at the meetings of the club.

WORK OF LOCAL COMPOSER

Mrs. E. W. Kinney, music curator of the Glendale Tuesday Afternoon club, is the happy recipient of three musical selections, the work of a local composer, Mr. E. L. Ballenger. One of the selections, "God's Love Is Above the Night," is a sacred song for a soprano or tenor voice, words and music both by Mr. Ballenger. "The Song of the Hermit" is written for a baritone voice. The words of "I Never Knew" were written by Mr. Ballenger and the music by Homer Tourje.

FOOD CONDITIONS IN GERMANY

Travelers who have just returned to the United States from Germany are unanimous in declaring that the blockade of the German ports maintained by the British fleet is occasioning very serious conditions in the Fatherland. Nominally the food supply is the same for the rich as for the poor; actually the poor get the worst of it, as might be expected. The poor man has to stand in the meat line himself; the rich man hires someone to stand for him. Then, too, there are restaurants where the rich man can dine every day in the week if he likes, and can get meat every day except Tuesday and Friday.

As far as the poor man is concerned he has naturally no money to spend on restaurants. He has no means of getting his meat supply except to stand in the line until his turn comes, from 1 o'clock in the morning until the day's supply is secured. The authorities frown on the custom of going to a restaurant for food; but as there is no law against it the rich people are to be found there. This has been the cause of the meat riots in Berlin and other cities. The poor do not object to being rationed; but they object to the rich having privileges rather than themselves.

It is prophesied that there will be a vast increase in the socialist party after the war. The people have realized that the government has adopted many of the socialist principles and put them into practice. The lesson is not lost on them. They are now maintaining that the only equitable way to deal with this food question is for the government to put everyone on rations. Each person, they say, should be given a regular quantity of food each day. Each one would thus be certain to get the full quantity.

It is argued that in a war like this there should be no rich and no poor. Everybody ought to be on the same basis. Many declare that it is monstrous that the poor should suffer more than the rich. The majority of the nation feels that if war is to go on every person, rich or poor, should be supplied with a daily ration ticket. With this ticket the poor man would be certain of receiving all the food he needs for his family and the rich man would not be able to secure any more than the poor whether he should eat at a hotel or at home. The country is demanding justice and equality in the matter of food distribution. The inequality has caused rioting and will continue to cause it.

UNIVERSAL SERVICE IN BRITAIN

Britain this week becomes a country of universal military service. All males between the ages of 18 and 41 become automatically soldiers of the empire for the duration of the war under the military compulsion act, that goes into effect June 24. They are the army of reserve and will become trained units as fast as the military authorities can put them through the necessary steps. By this measure more than 600,000 men will be added to the military forces. Of this number between 350,000 and 400,000 are youths under nineteen. The remainder is divided between married and single men who have been held back mainly for family or business reasons.

On June 24 every man walking the streets or roads of Great Britain, Ireland excluded, is subject to challenge by a police constable and must produce his certificate of military exemption forthwith or face the consequences. Few are free from service under the compulsion act. Total exemption is granted only to clergymen, exchanged prisoners of war and the medically unfit.

All over the country, beginning June 24, hundreds of tribunals will consider the last applications for exemption. It has been previously announced that absolute freedom from military service cannot be granted to those who plead "serious hardship." The tradesman must leave his shop; the professional man his office; the manufacturer his plant and the husband his home despite business or domestic hardship. The conscientious objector must serve in a non-combatant capacity. Even the government employee must prove that his services are indispensable to the nation.

On Saturday the first drafts of the conscript army will be started toward the training camps. Families are broken up. Wives and children have gone back to live with the "old folks." The government is storing the furniture of the married men without charge. Everywhere there are houses for rent more than at any other period in the history of the nation. Everybody is making sacrifices. The soldiers' wives and children are to live on the government allowance that goes to every soldier's family. Unless peace should come unexpectedly these conditions will be intensified as more and more men are called up to the colors.

AVENUES OF LIFE

There are a thousand avenues of life. As a human being starts out on his journey he beholds these avenues constantly opening up before him. Lift up your eyes and you will behold them everywhere. Some await your arrival to open their vistas to your view. Many are well-trodden paths that lead into the life to come. They lead invitingly into the lands of the good, the true and the beautiful; but they lead also to the cul-de-sac of sin and final misery.

Life is full of the avenues of opportunity. They radiate out from our feet; they spread into the regions beyond life itself. Thousands of these ways are before us. They cross and recross each other. They are the tracks of other feet and of other generations. Many of them, the most popular, have been trodden down until they are easy to enter and easy to walk in. They are the broad and inclined pathways that lead into destruction. Millions of feet have trodden them. They lie invitingly before us, those avenues of death.

In the midst of this maze of paths, these highways and byways, it is difficult to discover and to keep within the straight and narrow way that leads unto life. Once found that path itself is straight and leads directly to the kingdom of peace and light. It is sometimes hard to pick out this straight and narrow way; but once the human being determines to take it and to keep in it, his eye becomes funded to him, out of the sum paid for license. On motion of Trustee Jackson, the recommendation was adopted and the refund ordered.

The city manager asked for an extension of time until the next meeting of the board to report upon the question of the disposal of sewage in Verdugo canyon. The request was granted. He also suggested that the provisions of the ordinance prohibiting the putting of rubbish in the bed of the wash in Verdugo canyon and throughout the city limits be enforced, and on motion of Trustee Muhleman, the city manager was instructed to see that the provisions of the ordinance are strictly complied with.

On motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that when the board adjourn it be to meet in regular session at 7:30 p. m. June 22nd next.

The city engineer reported in regard to the bid of E. Schelling for the improvement of Pacific avenue, that while the figures do not seem to be excessive, it seemed advisable to endeavor to secure other bids on the work, and upon motion of Trustee Grist, it was ordered that the bid be rejected, and the city clerk was instructed to readvertise for bids for the improvement of Pacific avenue, to be opened at 8 o'clock p. m. on June 29th next.

The manager of the public service department reported that valves had been secured for the new twenty-inch pipe line and would be installed within a few days, thus completing the work. In regard to water for the consumers on Ruth street in the recently annexed district, the department will be ready to serve them with water by July 1st, unless delay is caused by the fact that the Railroad Commission has called for a hearing in the Kelley matter on June 30th.

The city attorney, to whom had been referred the matter of the guarantee of hose sold to the city by the United States Rubber company, presented a letter from the manager of that company in Los Angeles requesting that a fifty foot section of the hose be forwarded to the factory or to the Los Angeles Agency for inspection. On motion, the matter was referred to the fire chief to comply with the request.

Mr. Cowan presented to the board the matter of the preparation of a new City Directory, stating that if the board will give its sanction and assist in the enterprise, he will endeavor to get out such a publication in the near future. On motion of Trustee Jackson, the proposition was given the endorsement of the board.

On motion of Trustee Jackson, it was ordered that a committee of five be appointed by the chairman of the board to meet with a similar committee of Tropico to counsel together in regard to the proposed annexation of Tropico to the City of Glendale. The chairman appointed the following committee: T. W. Watson, W. E. Evans, H. B. Lynch, A. T. Cowan and Herman Nelson.

D. A. R. CHAPTER

Mrs. Mary Gridley-Brady, regent of the Richard Gridley chapter, D. A. R., will be hostess to the chapter Wednesday afternoon, at her home, 265 N. Brand boulevard. All members of the chapter with guests are asked to be present, as well as any who are eligible to join and are contemplating joining the chapter. Mr. Brady will tell the ladies about the Chicago conventions, having been a delegate to the Progressive convention. Refreshments will be served and a general good time will be enjoyed.

endowed with the power to discern it even amidst a thousand other paths that cross it in every direction.

Just as on the mountains in a sheep country the traveler will be told that the road to a distant farmhouse runs along the ridge of the hills and is as plain as can be. He is set on it and has hardly traveled a few hundred yards when he discovers that it is crossed by a hundred sheep tracks and unless he is particularly careful he loses the real track and goes astray; so in life the straight and narrow way is bewilderingly traversed by other trails and it is easy to lose it in the beginning; but after the eye has discerned it fully it becomes easier and easier to walk therein. This means perseverance and struggle, constant watchfulness and a full determination not to be led away by the thousands of more inviting paths which lead to darkness and gloom.

LACK OF INITIATIVE

There are people in this world who can never act on their own initiative. They are dependent on others for the force that actuates them. Absolutely without the interior spring of action that impels others to do and to act they wait for some impulse to be communicated to them from the outside. They will go just as far as you can push them. There they stop and wait until some other impulse is communicated to them before they can make another move.

If you want a thing done by such people a second time there apparently remains to them no initiative nor acquisition of knowledge from the first operation. You must give them a second impulse and instruct them to do over again what they have already done once. This would be the case if you made the same communication to them a thousand times.

Others when once instructed keep going. They have inner power. They need no second telling. It is very important to choose into which of these classes we will enter. Young people have this decision put up to them at the very beginning of life. If a boy or girl has to be told what to do and then to be watched to see that it is done that individual is likely to be a failure.

McNARY WAS PREPARED

Because Charles E. McNary, of Glendale, believes in preparedness, even to the extent of carrying a marriage license in his pocket, he is a married man today, says the Venice News.

It happened something like this: Mr. McNary believed, or at least he imagined that under certain conditions, he might broach the subject of matrimony to Mrs. Martha Kennedy of Glendale, without fear of being compelled to retreat.

But he didn't know just when and where, and how he could best plead his cause.

However, he decided that one of the first things to do was to secure a license, and this he did—yesterday morning, or the day before or sometime in the past, at least. And he had it in his pocket last night when a little dinner party was enjoyed at the Ship Cafe.

And Mrs. Kennedy was there—And the subject of matrimony came up—

And Dan Cupid compelled someone to suggest that it would be a nice evening for a wedding.

And McNary blushed as he looked at Mrs. Kennedy—

And Mrs. Kennedy blushed as she looked at Mr. McNary—

And, and, and—

But what's the use of prolonging the story.

Justice Rennie was roused from his peaceful slumbers, and brought the whole affair to a peaceful culmination by performing the wedding ceremony on the spot.

Sheriff Cline was best man, and Ward McFadden and Charlie Ceke acted as witnesses—and friends.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

W. E. Hewitt, proprietor of the Glendale Laundry, was one of the members of the California Laundry association who made the trip to San Diego, Thursday of last week, by auto. The occasion was the annual gathering of the association. When the association reached San Diego there were seventy autos in line. After a parade of the town the autos crossed to Coronado Beach, where arrangements had been made to entertain the visitors at the hotel. A splendid time was enjoyed. The band from Admiral Winslow's flagship, the San Diego, was in attendance and discoursed rhythmic music for the guests. The party returned to Los Angeles and Glendale Sunday night.

Casa Verdugo M. E. church is holding its annual picnic at Griffith park, today. There is a large attendance. The usual entertainment has been provided.

Remington district residents are greatly pleased at the promptitude with which the work of installing the new water system was started by the Glendale Public Service department and the diligence with which the installation has been prosecuted. It is now evident that the whole system will be in by July 1. This promptitude of service is creating a good impression in the foothills, where an adequate water system is much needed.

PERMITS TO DATE

FIRST HALF OF JUNE SHOWS BETTER THAN FIRST HALF OF MAY

Whatever wave of activity may have reached the States of the East or the Middle West it has not yet reached this section, although there are signs that things are rather better than last month. As far as building is concerned it is noticeable that both here and in the whole of this neighborhood a very large proportion of the building consists of garages. "People," says one authority, "are building garages and buying automobiles and not building houses. How long the craze will last cannot be said; but it must slow up some time."

For the first half of June the value of building amounted to $8945. Last month up to the same date the amount was $5125. The Seventh-day Adventist schoolhouse costing $1700 is a feature of this month's building. Two dwelling houses costing 2000 and one costing $1500 are the only other items of importance.

Following is the list of permits: W. F. Tower, of 427 S. Everett street, is building a garage, at a cost of $50.

H. W. Vanderhoff, of 201 S. Jackson street, is building an addition to his garage, at a cost of $50.

H. H. Parker, 413 N. Kenwood, is making a removal and repairs to a building, at a cost of $200.

G. E. Grant, 209 E. First street, is making a porch addition, at a cost of $200.

The Seventh Day Adventist school is building a schoolhouse, at 224 S. Isabel, at a cost of $1700. The contractor is H. J. Eggers.

J. A. Heaston is building a shed, at 1525 Pioneer Drive, at a cost of $30. The contractor is E. J. Holms.

J. A. Heaston is building a garage, at 1523 Pioneer Drive, at a cost of $70. The contractor is E. J. Holms.

S. Gittern is building a garage, at 1117 Lomita, at a cost of $45. The contractor is S. Mason.

H. Venske, 419 N. Maryland, is building a dwelling house, at a cost of $2000.

Lena W. McAbee is building a dwelling house, at 721 West Ninth street, at a cost of $1500.

A. E. Vose, 1578 Oak street, is building a garage, at a cost of $200.

E. S. Andrews is building a second story addition, at 201 N. Maryland, at a cost of $700. The contractor is E. D. Yard.

W. A. Reynolds is remodeling a house at 548 Rock Glen avenue, at a cost of $200.

Dave Carney is building a dwelling house, at 304 E. Fifth street, at a cost of $2000.

of Pasadena, who is better known as Miss Virginia Pease, formerly the principal of the Throop Elementary school at Pasadena. Before her marriage last year, this lady was often heard upon the lecture platform; but this is one of her first appearances since she relinquished her school position. Her brilliant and forceful speech yesterday delighted all who heard her, even though she arraigned the home as falling far short of what it should be to the developing child. One knows, however, that Mrs. Hunt is no iconoclast; for, though she destroys one's self-satisfaction, she always suggests remedies for all wrong conditions, and these are so logical and natural that one is struck with the hopefulness of the situation. One sure test of the value of a speech is the questions that are roused in the minds of the hearers; and Mrs. Hunt could scarcely withdraw herself from the many who asked her advice about home problems, at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. Geo. E. Adams, retiring Historian of the Federation, who has ably held that office for the past two years, then presented the organization with a "History of the Glendale Federation of P.-T. A.," which represents the fruits of her labor for the past year. This volume contains, among other things, excellent articles by Miss Ruth Byram and Mr. J. C. Sherer, who have told in a delightful way of the schools of many years ago in the valley, when the district stretched far to the north and the east, away beyond its present limits. The volume is copiously illustrated with many photographs, from the first school in the valley down to the latest official of the organization.

Mrs. P. S. McNutt, who has been the Federation's most able Parliamentarian for the last two years, and is passing on to the larger office of Parliamentarian for the entire district, because they have recognized her exceptional ability, conducted the installation ceremonies. She called upon the new officers for the Federation to stand before the audience, and introduced them one by one, with most appropriate and fitting remarks. They are: Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, president; Mrs. R. T. Burr, vice-president; Mrs. R. D. White, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Grosvenor, corresponding secretary; Mrs. F. K. Myton, treasurer; Mrs. John Robert White, parliamentarian; Mrs. H. W. Yarik, historian; and Mrs. Fred E. Hagin, auditor. Mrs. McNutt then called upon the newly elected officers of the as-

"TRY, TRY AGAIN"

A little girl in Jersey who had a bantam was disappointed at the smallness of the first egg laid by the bird, says the Country Gentleman. Her ideal egg was that of the ostrich, a specimen of which lay on the table in the parlor. One day the ostrich egg was missing from its accustomed place. After a prolonged search, it was found near the bantam's nest, and on it was stuck a piece of paper with the words: "Something like this please. Keep on trying."

DRY FORCES WILL WIN

SPEAKER AT ADVENTIST CAMP MEETING SAYS CALIFORNIA WILL BE DRY

SAN FERNANDO, June 19.—California's temperance forces are sure to win the fight against the liquor traffic at the election next November, in spite of the fact that this state has more saloons than all those of the last eleven states in America that went dry, according to Dr. D. M. Gandier, general superintendent of the California Campaign Federation, who spoke at a temperance mass meeting at the Seventh-day Adventist annual camp-meeting here this afternoon.

"I am sure the dry forces will roll up 500,000 votes this year, and if we do, victory is certain," said Mr. Gandier. "If we only took the stay-at-homes to the polls, we would win without converting anybody. But the wets are changing their minds. Mayor Hiram Gill, of Seattle, who was a wet all his life, is now a staunch dry advocate. Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Colorado and Arizona have found that business is a great deal better without the liquor traffic than with it.

"Prohibition certainly is a great deal better for the laboring class than present conditions, for even a saloon owner will hire a total abstainer to work for him sooner than a moderate drinker. At its best, liquor does harm. We have before the voters this year a sane proposition. The first issue on the ballot gives three years for the grape growers and the brewers to adjust themselves to the new conditions, and then liquor is banished from California forever. The second proposition on the ballot closes the California saloons two years sooner.

"The last defense of the liquor traffic has departed. If the great war has done nothing more, it has convinced the world of the evils of liquor. A man can't fight very well with a gun in one hand and a bottle of beer in the other; and he can't work and drink any better.

"Mr. Murphy was manager for the Cubs for two years, and the third year he said he would take the players provided every man would take the total abstinence pledge when he signed the contract. He told them he had lost an important game the year before because one man took a drink of beer about an hour before the game, and at a critical moment muffed the ball and lost the game for the Cubs. Even physicians are saying alcohol is not needed even as medicine, that its place is supplied by other things equally as effective and less harmful.

"Every man and woman ought to register. If you don't register you can't vote. This is the kind of politics every one can join in. Together we can finish the fight in California this year, and I am here to ask you to do your duty."

Elder E. E. Andross, of Glendale, president of the Pacific Union Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, speaking in the big tent here last night, said Constantinople is the prize for which Europe is now fighting. The chief causes of the war, he asserted, are the changed policy of the leading European nations regarding the integrity of Turkey, and an over-weening desire for the trade of the Far East.

The speaker said that Germany desires a trade route through Constantinople, across the Dardanelles, through Asia Minor and Mesopotamia to Bagdad and India. England is determined to maintain her supremacy in India. Russia has for many years sought a warm water outlet through the Black Sea, the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora, the Bosphorus and the Mediterranean sea into the Atlantic Ocean.

"England has blocked Russia more than once," said Mr. Andross. "In 1827 she was obliged to turn back from Constantinople. In 1853 the Crimean war came over the same thing. In 1887 Russia was knocking at the door of Constantinople when England, France and Germany refused her entrance, and she was obliged to make a humiliating peace. But today the nations who hitherto have prevented the absorption of Turkey are ready for its dismemberment.

"My friends, I am not interested in politics, or in the rise and fall of nations, except as they relate to the kingdom of peace which is soon to be established. Jesus, the great king, is about to stand up, that is, to begin his reign. The prophecy of Daniel 11:44, 45 and 12:1, 2 was uttered 2500 years ago, and it tells us that Turkey shall remove its seat of government to Jerusalem, 'yet he shall come to his end and none shall help him.' 'And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince that standeth for the children of thy people and there shall be a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation, even to that same time, and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book. And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt.'

"Michael is Christ, for Jude 9 says Michael is the archangel, 1 Thessalonians 4:16 says the dead will be resurrected by the voice of the archangel, and John 5:25 says 'the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall live.'

"Every part of Daniel's long, long prophecy has been fulfilled to the very letter, with the exception of the very last part, and that is in process of fulfillment. I defy any man living to prove successfully to the contrary. It stands as a wonderful monument to the omniscience of God. I think God that the King of Peace soon will come in the clouds of glory. I plead with you to prepare for the great event so soon to come. 'Prepare to meet thy God.'

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair to night and Wednesday; westerly winds.

THE NEW PETTICOAT

By MARGARET MASON

Her pretty puffy petticoat First seems to make Priscilla float, But in a crowd such breadth to tote Now seems to make her "soar" you'll note.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Petticoats are now making up with a vengeance for any past discrepancies. The poor, scant transparent things that last season passed for such wouldn't serve as one ruffle on the fluffy, ruffly hooped, puffed, flounced, ruffled and scalloped creations that now hide their lightness not under a bushel but under a barrel skirt. Taffeta for its crispness makes most acceptable pettis and when adequately corded and of sufficient fullness needs no wiring to give it that desired hoopy effect.

Two lovely ones that seem just to have been plucked blooming in the garden are a pink one which is a mass of petal shaped scallops, tier on tier, like an inverted rose, and one in yellow points like a daffodil. All shades of lavender, violet, purple, mauve and orchid, corded within an inch of their life and their entire surface, are edged in silken fringe, pinked ruchings or picot edged frills and quillings. Indeed you can just turn your fancies loose on your petticoat and let them run riot, provided they run around.

Petticoats of net and ribbon are most entrancing. Some are of multitudinous net ruffles run through at their headings with narrow picot ribbons of pale blue, orchid, pink and maize, while others are made of puffings of net run on fine wire alternating with wide bands of gorgeously embroidered ribbons. Some petticoats show an Evelike penchant for first fruits and boast a lavish display of tiny silken apples tucked hither and yon in a smother of frills. A bright purple petticoat is particularly delectable with clusters of bobbing silken cherries growing in a Burbankish manner near the limbs of a peach.

Chaste white petticoats as frothy with lace as a foaming stein gleam with the sheen of wash satin between their laciness and blossom occasionally with a tiny ribbon or beaded rose or French garland. Frivolous truly are the petticoats made of narrow ribbons sewed together lengthwise over the hips and then allowed to fall in a loose fringe effect over a wide flounce of chiffon and lace. Even the petticoat hasn't escaped the mad passion for handpainted adornment and many of the chiffon and delicate tinted taffeta ones for evening wear bloom in water color flora. All of the petticoats aren't as black as they are painted but the really black ones are as ebonesque as black net, chiffon, lace and jet beads can fashion them.

Some of the newest petticoats are held in such suspense that they are perilously near to pants. For like pants they are hung from fair shoulders by honest to goodness regular suspenders. The suspenders, except that they are made of the same silk as the petticoat proper (or improper it depends how you look at it), are replicas of those worn by our petticoatless peers. Truly with divers pettis clinging pant-like to suspenders, while others are puffy as can be, it's no wonder the most of them take our breath away.

PRIVATE CAPITAL IS WANTED

"Hey! You fellow with the idle money! Right this way and get first choice in building a railroad, developing an irrigation district, building a power plant, building a reservoir, developing a mining district. Take your pick from these good things."—Editor E. L. Beede, Drewsey Sun.

The above appeal comes from one of the remote cow-towns in the landlocked empire of Oregon, a town once famous only for its nameless graveyard.

That is the right spirit on the part of the Press—pave the turnpike of opportunity wide, broad and firm, says editor Beede.

Governor Withycombe has made a strong plea that private capital be invited to Oregon and be treated fairly after it gets here.

Three-fourths of the burdens of enterprises in the commonwealth must always be borne by private capital and why not encourage this burden-bearer?

FOLLY TO BE SICK

O. H. JONES, F. S. D., SPEAKS OF THE HUMAN BODY AND ITS CARE

In springtime, and in autumn especially, we are taught most impressive lessons of the marvelous activity and energy of life. In the early spring, when the snow has just left the ground, and the trees stand bare and leafless, the earth covered with faded autumn leaves, and brown, frost bitten grass blades, the world seems dead; but after a few days of sunshine, what a marvelous transformation! The sun's warm rays have thawed the frozen soil, and touched the roots of herbs, of shrubs, and of trees. The ascending sap has reached the farthest tip of every branch and twig; buds swell and burst; a bright fresh mat of green appears upon the earth; soon flowers bloom, green garments clothe the swaying boughs, a veritable resurrection scene, for nature was not dead, but sleeping, awaiting her allotted time.

Estimate the amount of energy required to lift the sap in all the trees and bushes of a thickly wooded forest. Many gallons of water are evaporated daily from the surface of a tree of average size. An eminent botanist is responsible for the statement that a single corn plant which is approaching maturity, sweats half as much as a man, which would represent evaporation at the rate of one or two ounces of water per hour. Estimate the amount of water lifted up from the earth by a square mile of such green plants, or a thousand square miles.

When autumn comes, each tree, each shrub, each tiny plant, brings its store of garnered energy in the ripened seed, in fruit, or nut—a little bundle of life deftly wrapped and sealed, carefully prepared to serve its purpose in the economy of the world. Think of the energy represented in all the acorns, all the wheat, all the corn, and all the nuts and seeds which ripen in the sunlight of the late summer and early autumn days! Each grain of corn planted in the springtime has been multiplied to several hundred grains. The farmer may carry his seed to the field in a bag upon his shoulder, but horses and wagons are needed to carry back the harvest in the fall. Think of it! each pound of corn increased to two, three, or four hundred, or even a thousand pounds.

Whence comes this enormous never-ceasing inexhaustible stream of energy flowing into the world through the medium of the vegetable kingdom? This is a question which philosophy has sought in vain to fathom. The only answer that can be given is, that it comes from that mysterious all-pervading force or principle which we call life, and we know no more.

The same mysterious, never-ceasing, inexhaustible stream of energy that accomplishes such mighty results in the vegetable kingdom, works with the same never-ceasing energy in the animal kingdom.

And man is no exception to this rule, in so far as the energy is concerned; but man has the power to control the disposition of that energy, either for good or evil.

That mysterious life force which manifests itself with such power, and in such astonishing results in the vegetable kingdom, is the same force that manifests itself in the intelligence of the ant, the spider, the bee, the bird, the beaver, and the dog; and in the strength and intelligence of the horse and the elephant, and which attains its highest achievement in man, as shown by the marvelous ingenuity of the human brain in all the activities of life.

In the vegetable kingdom, and in that division of the animal kingdom governed wholly by instinct, where all things move in harmony with the laws of life, the life forces work to perfection.

The same is true of the human branch of the animal kingdom, if the individual keeps in harmony with the life forces, otherwise there is discord, anarchy, ruin.

We may compare the life forces to or with electricity. We can tame and harness the electric current, and make it our faithful servant in all the varied ways to which modern inventions have applied it, or we can use it carelessly and indifferently and cause our own destruction.

It is the same also with the life forces. We can control and use them for the increase of life and usefulness in both the vegetable and animal kingdoms, or we can pervert them and turn them to evil and destruction.

So it is also with ourselves and our own kind. We can multiply life; we can conserve the life forces; we can add length of days to our own existence and to that of our offspring; we can add to their enjoyment and also to our own by making life a blessing, and accomplish the high purposes in life, and fulfill man's destiny in the great economy of nature, or we can pervert, crush, and destroy the life forces and make living a burden and a curse.

Either course is absolutely within the control of the individual. What I mean by this is that the shaping of your physical existence is absolutely within your own control. You and you alone, are individually responsible for whatever you make of your physical life. Life is the gift of God, and is for our benefit. In the great economy of God, life was created for a purpose. Life is the most precious gift, and the greatest blessing that has ever been given to man, by a loving and beneficent creator. Life was given for the purpose of enjoyment, and we should conserve life and enjoy it to the uttermost.

Do not take life too seriously. While we are not able to solve the mystery of life, we can solve the problem of living this physical animal life, and that is what concerns us most here and now.

The ameba, a protozoan, having a simple protoplasmic body with a nucleus and a nucleolus, and effecting movement with a finger-like extension of its substance, is the lowest form of organized life or existence known to exist on this globe; and life has reached its highest development in the human species.

Such an animal as the ameba, for example, possesses in a general way the functions of higher animals, without the special organs which in higher animal forms are connected with these functions. The ameba has no ears, eyes, nose or other sense organs, yet it is keenly sensitive. It seems to be able to feel, taste, and smell, although it appears even under the most powerful microscope to be simply a living jelly drop without a bodily structure at all resembling that of higher animals.

The ameba has no muscles, yet it contracts. It has no arms, legs, fins or wings, yet it has the faculty of locomotion. It has no stomach, yet it digests; no liver, yet it excretes; no lungs, yet it breathes; no brain, yet it manifests marvelous intelligence or instinct. The one simple cell performs all the duties of brain, stomach, muscle, liver, lungs and special senses.

Higher animals are communities of cells divided into groups, each of which is charged with some special function like the specialists who follow particular vocations in a civic community. Cells which make a specialty of contracting are associated together to form the muscular system. Cells which make a specialty of forming bone are associated together to form the bony structure. The cells which breathe form the lungs; cells which excrete, the kidneys, liver, or lungs; cells which think and feel, the brain and nerves. And so on throughout the body.

THE REPUDIATION OF ERROR

Let us labor for that larger and larger comprehension of truth, that more and more thorough repudiation of error which shall make the history of mankind a series of ascending developments. — Horace Mann.

In a recent issue of the Inquirer and Mirror, Nantucket, Mass., appears this account of one of the island's most interesting animals:

Harrigan is the public's dog. He is a mongrel, to be sure, but he belongs to the public and to no one else. Everybody knows Harrigan and knows nothing but good of him. That is why he has been permitted to roam about the streets as the public's dog for many years, unmolested and unmolested, minding his own affairs, keeping out of scraps, not barking at teams—simply living a dog's life and a life of ease, peace and contentment.

Harrigan has special privileges and does not even have to be licensed. He is perfectly at home in the police station, where he goes at night when it is too cold to sleep out on the streets, and he is just as welcome at the Union Club, where the town officials meet to play checkers and cards.

When he gets hungry, he knows where to find plenty to eat, and by his peaceable disposition he knows just how to wait patiently until he is fed. No one kicks him or throws stones at him. Everybody pats him and speaks to him and calls him "Harrigan," and he strolls about each day over his usual haunts—between Main street and Steamboat wharf—seldom venturing elsewhere and seldom traveling faster than a walk.

Harrigan is the public's dog—fat and sleek and black and tan and a pure-bred mongrel.

CHICAGO BOY SCOUT CIRCUS

An elaborate exhibition of boy scout achievements was recently given in Chicago. The affair was conducted as a three-ring circus and something was constantly being done in each ring; there were exhibitions showing the erection of a suspension bridge, a signal tower and an aerial bridge; there were troop activities, wireless and field telegraph work, staff drills, cowboy feats and bicycle troop activities. The circus aroused a great deal of interest in scout activities; the total attendance was estimated at between 10,000 and 12,000, and the gross receipts amounted to over $1000.
